DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-13 and 15-21 are pending in this application.

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed June 18th, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
2. Applicant has stated that they disagree with the examiners assessment that the deletion of data and the re-writing of data are virtually the same process in a non-volatile memory. Further research has uncovered that in flash memory (also known as FEPR0M), as used by both Kondo and the current application, data is erased and reprogrammed in blocks, unlike the byte by byte altering capability of EEPROM. This further supports the examiners statement that the rewriting and the erasing of memory is essentially the same operation. Applicant's example of an EPROM ultra-violet light deletion system is not relevant to the claims as written as they do not specifically cite an EPROM device.
3. In response to applicants argument that Kondo does not show "waiting without communicating with the vehicle controller until a predetermined waiting time elapses from the time at which a signal for requesting deletion of the data in the non-volatile memory is sent to the vehicle controller", examiner specifically cites column 4 lines 27-43 which detail the receiving of a rewriting command and the wait step as was previously specifically cited in reference to figures 5 and 10.
4. In response to applicants arguments that the Hirose patent does not adequately show the calculation of time required to delete data based on the memory specification and the size of the data, arguments are found to be persuasive. Claim 17 is moved to be part of the previous 102(e) rejection as it is very broad. Claims 4, 8, and 13 are indicated as allowable below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

1. Claims 1, 2, 5, 6, 9, 10, 15-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 6,405,279 to Kondo et al.

2. Referring to claims 1, 5, 9, 15, 18, and 21, Kondo shows a rewriting device, system, and method for rewriting data stored in a memory of a vehicle controller: the rewriting device capable of communicating with the vehicle controller (Abstract) and configured to wait without communicating with the vehicle controller until a predetermined waiting time elapses from the time at which a signal for requesting deletion of the data is sent to the vehicle controller or from the time at which a signal indicative of start of deleting operation of the data is received from the vehicle controller (Figures 4 and 10). Examiner notes that column 2, lines 20-30 state that it is undesirable to attempt to communicate during this waiting time.

3. Referring to claims 2, 6, and 10, Kondo shows wherein the predetermined waiting time is the time necessary to delete the data stored in the memory (figures 5 and 10).

Art Unit: 2125

4. Referring to claim 17, Kondo shows calculating the time to delete the memory and setting the deleting time to be the waiting time (figures 5 and 10).

5. Referring to claims 16 and 19, Kondo shows when the waiting time has elapsed, sending a request for the result of the deleting operation to the vehicle controller (Figure 4, step S206).

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 3, 4, 7, 8, 11-13 and 20 are objected to as being dependant upon a rejected claim, but would be considered allowable if rewritten in independent form.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
